

More than $50 million damages asked

Eight builders allege VCSD negligence in suits

Valley Community Services District has been "negligent" in complying with both the spirit and the letter of court-ordered answers to local sewer problems, and it is on that basis that eight major builders will seek substantial dollar damages, as well as a new court order requiring "specific performance."

A top executive for Morrison Homes, one of the builders joined in that suit, explained the reason behind that action, and what they hope to gain as a result.

"This is pretty much a follow-up to the complaint first filed in November of 1971, and the stipulated judgement handed down in December of 1972," says Bud Lake, assistant to the president of Morrison Homes, the largest developer of homes in Pleasanton. Lake asserts that VCSD "has been negligent" on two counts: Failing to comply with that court order; and failing to provide sewer connections in accordance with the "priority list" worked out in late 1972 between the district, the city and the builders.

The $51 million sought by the eight builders represents "some actual and very substantial cash losses" already incurred by the those firms, Lake contends. Even subsequent action by VCSD to provide new sewer services will not satisfy the builders' claim for damages.

(VCSD has several other legal actions outstanding, including a suit which will be filed by City of Pleasanton seeking to prod the district into expanding that plant, and one initiated by the services district seeking relief from a $2 million debt still owed to Volk-McClain on the original investment in that treatment plant. VCSD has made virtually no payment against the principal of that indebtedness.)

In addition to Morrison Homes, the firms joined in that legal action are H.C. Elliott, Singer Co., McKay Homes, Kaiser-Aetna Ponderosa Homes, Fallender Homes and Oliver Rousseau Co. Together, these firms control well over 1000 acres of buildable land just within Pleasanton, plus some additional acreage in the Dublin area. "And that represents a considerable investment in land, in option payments and, in some instances, in improvements already made against the assurance of sewer connections that are not now available to us," Lake contends.

Citing his own firm's example, Lake reports that "we have 477 zoned lots within our new Heritage Valley subdivision (on Santa Rita Road), but only 20 percent of those lots have sewer connections, and we have no indication when the balance will be provided."

In addition to damages claimed on lost profits and investments, the court action seeks "specific performance" by VCSD to expand first to the five million gallon daily flow level, and to apply through proper channels for ultimate expansion to eight mgd.

Asked why City of Pleasanton was not this time included in this latest suit as it had been in the earlier claim, Lake replied: "We view VCSD as the lead agency. They are responsible for the area they claim to serve, which includes much of the City of Pleasanton."

"What we are after is a reasonable plan of expansion by VCSD that will provide for orderly development in accordance with that plan," the Morrison official said.

He noted that "other East Bay sewer systems, such as the East Bay Dischargers and the Central Contra Costa Sanitary District are managing to provide some expanded service, while still working within federal and state guidelines."

Morrison did however file a similar action against City of Pleasanton last year, and won a court order which required the city to pay damages to the firm for each day it failed to provide the number of sewer connections claimed by the builder.

Kudos to Walnut Grove

"There is indeed good stuff happening within our public school system" is the including line of a letter signed by 179 parents in the Walnut Grove area of Pleasanton.

The letter, which was presented to the Pleasanton Elementary School District Board of Trustees at last night's meeting, applauds the staff at Walnut Grove and the open space education concept that is employed there.

"It is so refreshing to have our children excited about learning, to have their curiosity aroused and their intelligence challenged" the letter states. "For those of us who have visited and observed the school's pods, it is evident that happy children are involved in learning."

The letter begins "It is so often that criticism is directed at the public schools that, as this year closes, we wish to demonstrate our appreciation for a show of excellence. At Walnut Grove School in Pleasanton, an outstanding school-wide program has evolved."

The letter goes on to commend the teachers for their continuous and continuing efforts" and for "developing varied and stimulating learning environments."

Organizers of the drive for signatures were Jean Bazan, Phil Buonsante, Elva Cooper, Judy Hanley, Suzon Kornblum and Vivian Thorsen.

Copies were sent to the PESD board as well as various district officials and the principal at Walnut Grove.

Want to play around?

Pleasanton playground leaders (clockwise from top left) Bruce Ede, Frank Gomez, Eileen Morley and Jane Ross invite all Pleasanton youngsters between the ages of 6 and 12 to join them this summer at local playgrounds. The playgrounds will operate from 1 to 6 p.m. weekdays from June 23 to Aug. 15 at Lydiken, Donlon, Harvest Park and Fairlands schools. A playground "kick-off" night is set for 6:30 p.m. June 20 at the Aquatic Center when playground leaders will be on hand to discuss the program.

Western Electric closing

'Serious blow to community'

DUBLIN - An audible gasp slipped out from Wednesday's Dublin Chamber of Commerce luncheon when Western Electric representative Charles Leslie told the gathered members that 80 percent of the people employed at the plant, which will be closed by the end of the year, live within 12 miles of work.

And distinct groans were heard when he added some 60 percent of the 500 employees being laid off in the closing are heads of households.

"There's no question that it's a serious blow to the business community," he said. The plant, in operation since 1971 and planned by the manufacturing arm of American Telephone and Telegraph since 1969, bought $17 million in "material last year from businesses in California. It's payroll, some $6 million, produced $25 million in "generated dollars" throughout the community.

"We've got some cases of mother and father and their children working in the plant." But the picture isn't as bleak as the numbers make it seem, he continued. Western Electric has been working with the Diablo Region Industrial Personnel Association (DRIP), International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Local 2342, California Department of Human Resources and other employment bureaus.

"I don't think there'll be a problem placing the technical people," the 23-year veteran of Western Electric said, adding the biggest problem will be finding jobs for the semi-skilled "bench hands."

DRIP is composed of personnel people from the Mt. Diablo area and has been helping locals find jobs before the anticipated end of September cessation of production.

There's been no great problem finding jobs for the technical employees, according to Leslie: engineers, electricians and secretaries — "especially executive secretaries." To date 70 personnel have left the plant and 40 have found jobs.

Fifty of the 550 people employed last month when the company announced the closing will be transferred to other locations. The plant's production of transmission equipment will be shifted to two existing plants in North Carolina and Massachusetts.

Western Electric planned for the Dublin/San Ramon site in 1969, picking 1733 acres of Bishop Ranch property. One-thousand acres, including 450 acres for open space, were set for a planned unit development: homes, condominiums and apartments.

A 660-acre "controlled manufacturing center" (industrial park) was projected, including 200 acres for the Western Electric plant.

The firm envisioned a half-million-square-foot center employing 2,000 workers. Maximum employment at the "pilot plant" topped 660 last November.

Changes in telephone technology and the seemingly omnipresent recession forced Western Electric to close this plant shortly after discharging 1,200 employees and stopping operations at its Vancouver, Wash., site.

Sixteen-thousand people were laid off in 1974, according to Leslie, and the count reached 13,000 by May 1, 1975.

"I expect it's up to 15,000 by now," he added.

An anti-trust suit filed against AT&T and Western Electric "had no bearing on the closing" Leslie emphasized.

The firm had been proceeding on a Consent Decree authorized in 1956 following a 1949 suit.

(Leslie expects this suit to last "at least seven years," too.)

Under that agreement Western Electric produces equipment for AT&T and the government, while AT&T and its local affiliates may purchase equipment on an open market.

While reports that WE is being underpriced by an opened market have flourished, Leslie says his firm charges an average 72 percent of their competition's price.

"If it's any consolation, no one person is happy to be going back," said the native of Massachusetts, who will probably return to a plant near his home. "The weather — and the people — have been beautiful."

Mori dump bill passes committee — Goes to full Assembly next week

SACRAMENTO - The State Assembly Local Government Committee has approved a bill authored by Assemblyman Floyd Mori which would prohibit the controversial Kaiser dump proposal.

The legislation would forbid the establishment of any dump site within two miles of city limits without the consent of that community.

The bill, AB 2220 was approved by a 7-1 vote of the committee on Tuesday after a clarification was made so that the law would apply to both public and private entities.

A committee spokeswoman said she expected the bill to go to the full Assembly early next week.

Mori's bill was prompted by Kaiser Industries' plans to reclaim more than 700 acres of depleted gravel pits adjacent to Pleasanton with garbage. The sanitary land fill, which would take decades to complete, would involve filling pits as much as 120 feet deep.

Valley communities strenuously opposed the plan because they feared the dump could contaminate their underground water supply.

The State Water Resources Control Board had set standards for the project that were so strict as to make it infeasible. Kaiser went to court, however, to force the state water board to reopen its hearings.

A date for that new hearing has not yet been scheduled. Both the state water board and a valley group opposed to the dump, Citizens Against a Garbage Environment (CAGE), have commissioned studies so they will have additional testimony to present at that hearing.

'Embarrassment of money' VCSD board stops early pay

Valley Community Service District Finance Director Newell Cummings' request to pay off a $184,000 loan in one lump sum rather than in the two installments originally agreed upon was denied Tuesday night by the board of directors.

VCSD Attorney Peggy McElligott said "I have always advised against (paying off the loan)" because the board "cannot renew that borrowing later because of SB 90."

Council to consider more sewer repairs

PLEASANTON - The city council will be asked to consider further repairs at the antiquated Sunol Boulevard sewer treatment plant in the near future.

The repairs are preventive, City Manager Bill Edgar told the council Monday, designed to lessen the adverse impact if something goes wrong at the plant.

Director of Field Services Arnold Eaton said he would be approaching the council with a proposal to put the old digester back into service as a back-up measure.

As part of the more than $350,000 worth of repairs done to that plant, the council approved construction of a new digester because the dome of the old digester was badly weakened and was one of the main sources of the persistent odor problems that plagued the plant.

There are other things that can be done to the plant, Assistant City Manager Al Campbell said. If the council feels the repairs are worth it, he added, "we would get a better degree of treatment and a small upset wouldn't hurt you so much."

Campbell said most of the repairs that will be proposed to the council deal with "trying to minimize the risk of any odor problem. The degree of treatment is not the problem."

Edgar told the council the proposed repairs would be in the $10,000 to $20,000 range and added they are being proposed because "we want to operate that plant in a responsible manner."

In the past, the council has expressed a reluctance to spend any more money on the old sewer plant, parts of which were built in 1910.

Any repairs would most likely be financed out of the $1 million fund the city has set aside to help pay for an eventual phase-out of that facility.

For years, the city assumed that phase-out would involve a consolidation with the more modern Valley Community Services District plant but, because of problems with the VCSD Board of Directors and with the Environmental Protection Agency, the city is now considering building its own new plant without federal aid.

Although Cummings felt that the money sitting in the VCSD coffers put the district in an "exposed" position if lawsuits should be filed, the board unanimously agreed with McElligott and Director Ann Jolley to not pay off the whole loan.

Cummings warned "We are going to have an embarrassment of money" when the new sewer connection fees come in and added that he has "a very conservative attitude with other people's money" but McElligott's testimony swayed the board.

With a minimum of discussion, the board agreed to sign a contract with Ralph Properties to continue dumping garbage along Tesla Road in Livermore and accepted Livermore as the ruling body if Ralph Properties was prohibited from running the dump site by new legislation.

The board also reviewed and approved the Livermore-Amador Valley Water Management Agency (LAVWMA) budget without extensive discussion and also approved an agreement to get state funding for the Dublin Sports Ground.

The directors also happily accepted the official vote canvass for last week's election that will allow the development of 47 acres of parkland in Dublin and San Ramon. The final official tally was 1,345 yes to 1,307 no.

Dublin voted down the measure 615-355 but San Ramon residents came through with a 1,030-652 plurality in favor of the measure to assure its narrow success.

The board officially thanked the citizens of the district and especially the Committee for Parks Development that did much of the work in assuring the passage of the proposal.

The directors were also concerned about the Zone 7 Flood Control and Water Management District's decision to supply Livermore with water from its Patterson Pass plant first during the summer. That means Livermore will have much higher quality water than the west end of the valley.

VCSD files answers to eight lawsuits

DUBLIN - Following an executive session Tuesday night, the Valley Community Services District Board of Directors instructed its attorneys to respond to the lawsuits that are being filed against the district by eight Pleasanton developers.

VCSD President Lila Euler said she really could not comment on the suits, which are asking more than $50 million in damages because neither the board nor its attorneys has had an opportunity to study the suits.

Euler did say, however, she believed "there is no justification for any lawsuits. The district has done everything possible to make (sewer) connections available."

In addition to the litigation being brought by the developers, the City of Pleasanton plans to file a suit by mid-June which attacks VCSD's "lack of action" in aggressively pursuing an expansion of its sewer treatment plant.

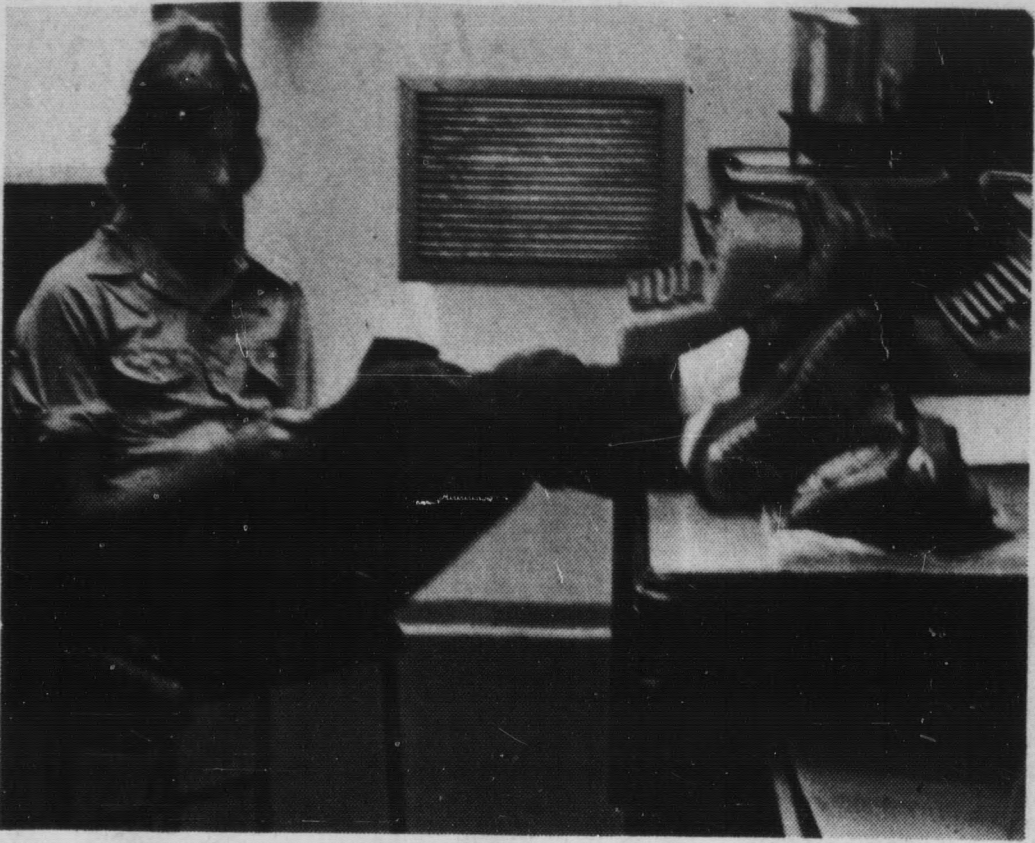

That suit, according to City Attorney Ken Scheldig, will ask damages of more than $100,000.

Student bands banned

High school band members were assured Thursday they will indeed be able to participate in Saturday's Livermore Rodeo Parade. The issue arose when the American Federation of Musicians told the Livermore School District that participation of the student band might constitute a violation of the Code of Ethics. That code states that school groups should not take the place of professionals.

Against LAFCO

Livermore may seek injunction

LIVERMORE - A final decision on whether the city will file a preliminary injunction against the Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO) is expected to be made by the end of this week. The council has granted city attorney Bob Logan "discretionary authority" to proceed with the injunction to prevent LAFCO from considering the formation of a new county services district for the Las Positas Valley.

Formation of the Las Positas County Service Area (LPCSA) is the first step in drawing up a specific plan for Harlan Geldermann's New Town development. The City of Livermore, which opposes New Town, has filed two separate suits on the matter.

One names the County Board of Supervisors as the defendant. It seeks to have a General Plan Amendment passed by the board last December that paves the way for New Town declared invalid.

The other names LAFCO as the defendant and claims its decision to put the Las Positas Valley outside of Livermore's sphere of influence was arbitrary and capricious.

The city feels because the sphere of influence determination may be found invalid, no further action should be taken on the request to LAFCO to form a service district for the Las Positas Valley, explained assistant city attorney Gary Reiners.

"No further action should be taken until it finally is decided whether or not the City of Livermore will have a voice in determining the future organization of this area. If LAFCO does go ahead and approve a county service area, we'll just have to sue all over again.

"That's the proper function of a preliminary injunction—to avoid a multiplicity of lawsuits," said Reiners.

He also explained the fact that Geldermann now is attempting to form a county service area is "exactly the type of harm and injury the city is concerned about."

Four injured in highway crash

LIVERMORE — Four people were injured early Tuesday morning when a car left Highway 84 and plowed into a Pacific Gas and Electric pole, and another car rear-ended a firetruck responding to the scene.

California Highway Patrolmen say a car driven by Constance Burch, 27, of Fremont, failed to make a turn one mile south of Vineyard on Vallecitos Road, knocked over a paddle marker and turned and skidded sideways into a power pole shortly before 4 a.m.

Burch and her passengers, Clyde H. Ashby, 32, and four-year-old Brian Burch, were rushed to Valley Memorial Hospital.

Ninety-minutes later, a late-model passenger car driven by Raymond J. Balix, 38, of Tracy, rounded the bend and smashed into a fire truck called to the scene because of the downed power-line.

While both Burches and Balix were treated at VMH and released, Ashby was taken to surgery suffering from internal injuries. He is listed as "recovering very well" by a hospital spokeswoman.

PG&E's 12,000 volt line served six customers in the area, five of whom had power restored at 5:53. The sixth was blacked out until 2:10 p.m., a spokesman said, for a total of 10 hours, 28 minutes.

Citations were not issued, according to the CHP, but the accidents are still under investigation.

County firemen free youths pinned in car

LIVERMORE — Alameda County fire officials spent some 30-minutes freeing two youths pinned in their car following a 12:55 a.m. accident Monday. A third youth crawled through the smashed rear window when he smelled gas fumes.

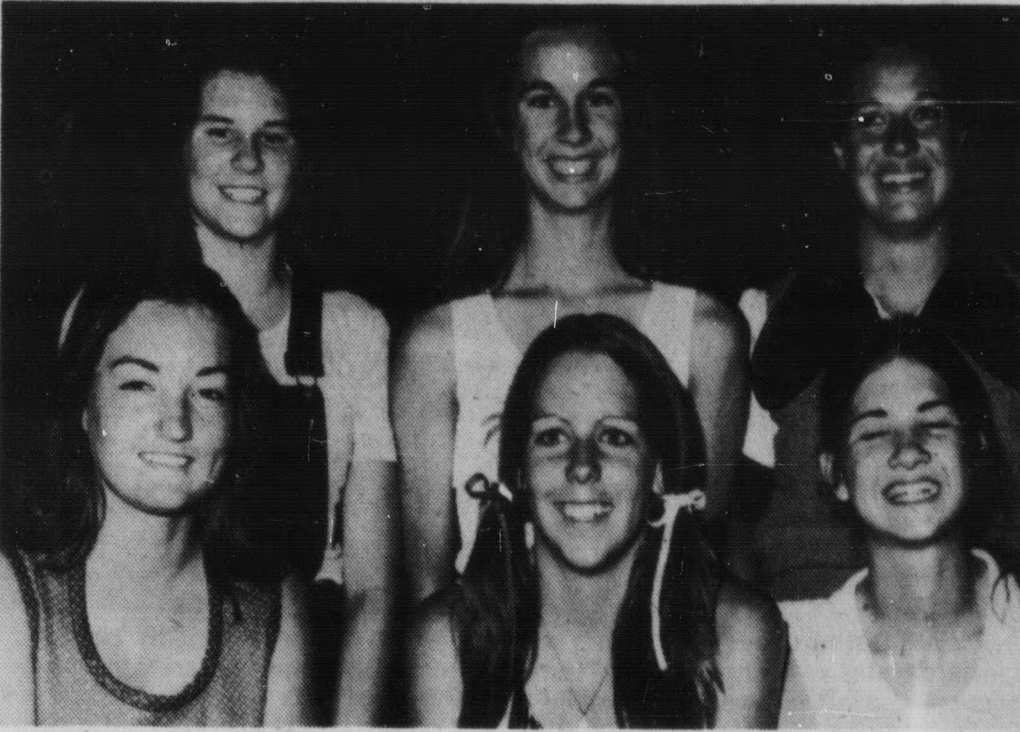

The trio was rushed to Valley Memorial Hospital where the driver, Albert L. Gridley, 20, and his passenger, John A. Neilson, 21, both of 4520 Tesla Rd., and a 14-year-old Livermore boy, were listed in "good, stable" condition by hospital officials.

Gridley is being treated for cuts and bruises and a strained neck, while Neilson may have a fractured left shoulder in addition to cuts and bruises.

The 14-year-old is listed with a dislocation of the cervical spine.

According to the California Highway Patrol, the three were traveling south on Mines Road and failed to negotiate a bend. The car skidded sideways. Firemen used a "porta-power" hydraulic pliers to free the two trapped in the front seat.

An investigation is continuing, the CHP said.

Student attacks 'wasteful' welfare plans

Alameda County Bureau OAKLAND — A UC Berkeley student told the Alameda County Board of Supervisors Tuesday night the county Welfare Department is wasting hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Shelley Liberto charged the department has a "backwards value system" and was operated with the intent of "defending taxpayers' dollars" rather than complying with the legislative intent of the law "to help poor people survive."

Chairman Fred Cooper asked Liberto to provide more information to support his allegations to Acting Welfare Director William Davis. After Davis has responded, the matter will be turned over to the Welfare Commission for hearings and will then be returned to the board of supervisors for final action.

The board also approved an agreement with Arthur Young and Company for an audit of Zone 7. Director of Public Works Herbert Crowe told the board the annual-audit has, over the years resulted in a savings to Zone 7 of more than $350,000.

The supervisors also approved the construction of an untreated water turnout facility for Zone 7 at a cost of $30,000.

In addition, the board approved plans and specifications for the slurry seal surfacing of more than 15 miles of county roads in the Pleasanton, Livermore and Dublin areas. The total cost (including some sections of Eden Township) will be $80,000.

Livermore Maid contest judge is fashion oriented

By LILLY AULT

"Each girl, pretty or ugly, can make the most of her assets with proper training and training is what it takes," says Gail Penna of Tulipwood Circle, Pleasanton. Gails feels it is just as important to be taught good grooming and hygiene as it is to learn the basics of reading, writing and arithmetic.

"Attending a self-improvement school does not necessarily mean a young girl has to become a model," commented Gail. "Proper walking, sitting, talking, grooming and gaining self-confidence is an advantage to a young lady no matter what type of job she may be interested in obtaining."

Gail went on to comment that appearance is probably 99 percent of obtaining a job. "If the person doing the interview is turned off on the applicant as soon as she walks through the door because of the way she is dressed, her make-up, the way she walks, sits or fidgets while talking, she lessens her chance of getting the job. Girls must remember," she went on, "that when they are hired for a position, the employer is not only thinking of their ability to perform the job, but that she will be a representative of his company and, of course, all employers want neat looking personnel."

If she had her choice, Gail said she would rather be a smart person rather than born a beauty. "With proper make-up a person can always improve their looks, but it takes a lot more effort to be intelligent. For persons where things come naturally, it's great, but for many it takes hours of studying."

Gail has been connected with the fashion world in one capacity or other since she was 16 years old. At the age of 16, she was approached by a fashion coordinator and was asked if she would be interested in doing some modeling for Lloyd Taylor in Connecticut, where she was living at the time. She had never modeled before in her life, but told the coordinator she would be interested in "giving it a try."

While in college, she was approached on modeling. "I've never worked at getting a modeling job, but from time to time I am approached to see if I would be willing to do some modeling," the young mother of three commented. She also appeared on a magazine cover.

Gail prefers photography to fashion modeling. "Fashion modeling is really hard work. It is very demanding of a person, she stated. "You are constantly in training so to speak. You have to develop good eating habits or be on a diet constantly, get proper sleep, do the proper exercise and just be in tip top shape at all times."

Modeling is a difficult career for girls to break into according to Gail. "Very few girls make the top where you have the financial security," she remarked. "Modeling is extremely competitive, jobs are difficult to find and it's not a long-lasting career. The advertising world, she feels, dictates as to what type of model will be in demand at a given time. "One year they may look for the long slim, girl, the next it could switch to the busy looking girl or sometimes they want the 'mature woman' look in a model. You just never know from one time to the next what look will be in demand." Here Gail recalled the era of "Twiggy." "If you weren't thin and straight up and down, you weren't in," she said.

Gail's experience with beauty is not limited to modeling. She operated a modeling agency in Oregon and worked as Miss Wendy Ward for four and one half years. (Wendy Ward is a self-improvement class sponsored by Montgomery Ward.) At one time Gail was in charge of two Ward stores in San Jose working 48 hours a week. "It got to be a little too much," she commented "and with a family I just couldn't keep it up. I never really wanted to leave the field of fashion, but positions in the fashion world are not too plentiful in this area." Gail is presently working for a local bank.

While working as Wendy Ward, she saw many girls start the course as one personality and after the training, become an entirely different person, — "all for the better," she said.

Gail will be one of the judges at the Livermore pageant on Friday, June 7 at Castlewood Country Club. This will be her fourth year in serving as a judge. She enjoys it and gives the girls high praise for entering the contest.

Gail was in a pageant contest at the age of 16. "I was scared stiff," she recalled. "I could hardly move my legs to walk down the ramp!"

Gail also served as a preliminary judge in the Miss Livermore Pageant. In the preliminaries, she feels a judge gets to know the girls better than on the night of the pageant. "We have an interview with the girls and get to know them as a person," she said. "I am very impressed with these young ladies. They are much more mature now than they use to be at that age. I admire them for standing up in front of judges and putting themselves on the line. It is really difficult to make a decision, but one has to be made."

After the preliminaries, the 10 girls chosen to compete for the title of Miss Livermore, spend two weeks on a "crash self-improvement" class. Gail feels this course although short and fast, does an awful lot for the girls and all the girls seem to enjoy the experience they have while preparing for the pageant, win or lose.

When she returns to the pageant for the final judging, Gail said she will see a definite improvement in the girls from the first time she spoke with them. "You just have to start judging all over again as they are a different person."

The girls are judged on poise, figure, personality and looks. "Not always does the prettiest girl win," she says. Each judge looks at the girl and judges his own opinion. The judges do not, in the final judging, compare notes or talk with each other. In the preliminaries, they did meet and discussed who would be the top 10.

During the pageant, Gail stated that there is "just not time to do any discussing, you are kept quite busy marking each girl on various scores. 'What one judge sees in a girl, the other may find does not rate as high in his opinion,' she commented. "This is good, for if all of us had the same feeling on each point, there would not be any competition."

Gail has never served as a judge in the Pleasanton Pageant as she has always known one or two of the girls who were competing. "You can't be personally involved with any of the girls when you are a judge," she said. Theresa Lynn Alexander, Pleasanton Maid for 1974, was a student of Gail's at one time in her self-improvement class.

When not working or involved in the fashion world in any way, Gail enjoys writing poetry and sewing, particularly bathing suits. Last year she designed and made bikinis by request. She also loves to read, but most of all loves anything involving the fashion world be it either for fun or work.

Gail and her husband, Frank, have three children, Robin 13, Lisa 15 and Jill, six.

Concannon offers tours on weekends

The Concannon Winery in Livermore, an official historic landmark, will commence free weekend tours open to the public in honor of the dual Bicentennial of San Francisco and the nation.

Operators for three generations of one of the few California wineries still controlled by the founder's family, the Concannon's have trained a staff of eight Valley men to conduct the tours of the 92-year-old winery Saturdays and Sundays at noon, 1 p.m. 2 p.m. and 3 p.m.

Informal tours will continue weekdays from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m.

All of the original buildings dating from 1883 are still in use at the winery. Among their attractions are James Concannon's original oak wine casks coopered in France and brought by ship around Cape Horn, still aging the current vintages partial to oak.

There are also many California redwood casks still in use coopered 85 years ago.

The land chosen by James Concannon for his original vines imported from Montpelier, France, is an unusual alluvial soil, very rocky and gravelly. The combination of the well-drained soil, long growing seasons and cool nights are ideal for grape-growing.

The winery is operated by the third generation of Concannon vintners, Joseph and James, with fourth-generation Tom in the process of learning the trade. The vineyard is on Tesla Road off South Livermore Avenue.

Diplomat son back from Germany

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Richard Landers, son of Don and Betty Landers of Pleasanton returned to his home base of Washington, D. C. having completed a two-year tour of duty with the State Department. Landers was vice consul in Dusseldorf, Germany.

Dick was greeted by dozens of friends and colleagues from federal agencies and senatorial offices. The welcoming committee was headed by former Pleasanton resident, Jim Krause, now of Washington, D. C.

According to Krause, the elaborate ceremonies included banners, posters, martial music, confetti and streamers. Other international passengers on the trans-Atlantic flight were puzzled at the welcome, but several joined in the celebration.

After a two-week visit with his parents in California, Dick returned to Washington, D. C. for his next State Department assignment.

Sixteen valley billboards face day of decision

Sixteen valley billboards may be snuffed out of existence at today's Alameda County Board of Supervisors meeting in Oakland.

The end of the line for what some term eyesores and others view as a way of making a living will come about if the supervisors uphold an ordinance originally passed in 1969 that allowed billboards five years before elimination. In May of 1974, the Planning Department began calling for the removal of signs that did not conform to the county ordinances and the sign owners began a series of appeals that may well culminate at 9 a.m. in the County Administration Building.

Although billboard matters are expected to take up most of the morning session, Supervisor Fred Cooper has introduced discussion of the General Plan Amendment that stated that "no substantial development" should take place in the Pleasanton-Dublin foothill area.

Planning Director Bill Fraley wrote a letter to the board asking for clarification of "substantial development" some months ago and the supervisors are going to consider that, and other matters relating to the ridgelines, at the afternoon session.

The supervisors will also rule on two requests to zone 6.6 acres of land in Dublin from light industrial to commercial, as well as dropping 22.72 acres from agricultural to residential.

The Dublin Land Company is asking the supervisors to approve rezoning of land at the southeast corner of Dublin Boulevard and San Ramon Road from Highway Frontage to retail business.

Of the four valley rezoning requests, the last is the only one that met with the approval of both the planning staff and the planning commission.

The supervisors are also scheduled to work on the Mayors' Formula for distributing gas tax funds throughout the valley, which was originally set up by the Alameda County Mayors' Conference.

However, the bulk of the meeting will deal with the billboards that no longer conform to county ordinances.

GAIL MILLER'S MACRAME HANGER

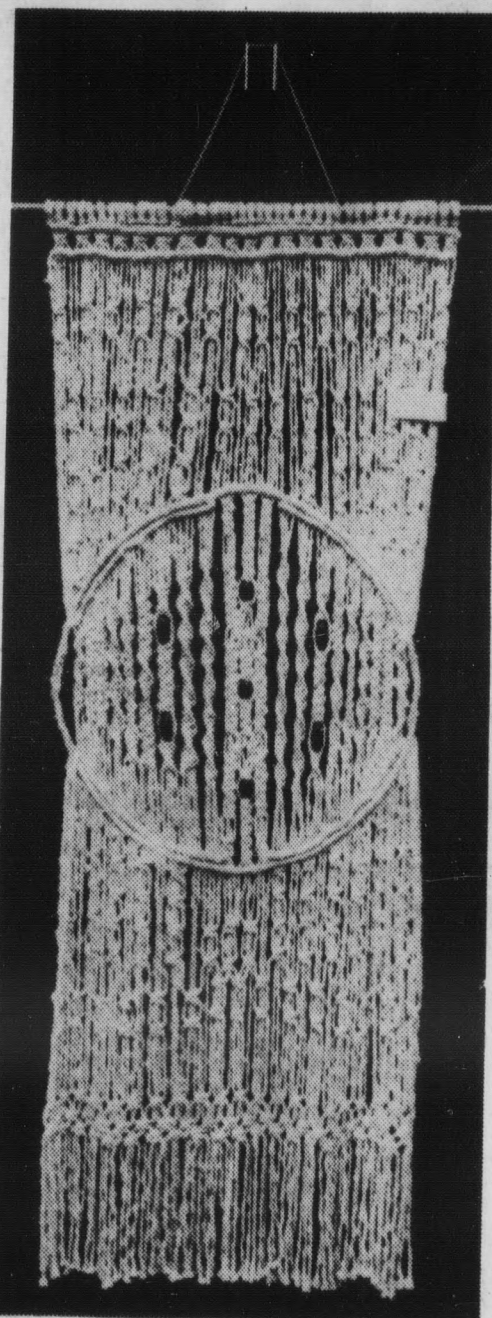

ANN THOMPSON

At Granada High gallery

Art-lovers numbering well over 1,000 viewed an impressive array of student artwork at Spring Gallery '75 sponsored by the Granada High School art department. A myriad of moods and media was in evidence with students paintings, drawings, quilts, weaving, macrame, pottery, jewelry, etchings and sculpture. The school currently offers a dozen art classes. The art department, which depends on materials now purchased at frighteningly inflated prices, will be hardest hit with budget freezes according to a department spokesman. Classes and the semi-annual art show may be curtailed, it was said.

Four Amador seniors receive PAL awards

The Pleasanton Art League recognized four Amador Valley High School seniors for outstanding artistic achievement with scholarships totalling nearly $500 at the school's awards ceremony.

Diane Thraikill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Thraikill, received top honors with a $200 scholarship followed by Carolyn Eastment and Nancy Klein with $100 scholarships, and Abbie Kortan with a $75 award.

Winners were selected on the basis of academic standing, community involvement and attainable goals, in addition to the quality of four pieces of original art submitted by each applicant.

Judy Bethel of the league's scholarship committee acknowledged that "the caliber of artwork submitted by all the applicants was very high." The league reports that this year's art scholarship competition offered more financial aid to more students with the greatest number of applicants than in any previous year.

First-place winner Diane Thraikill will attend San Jose State University in preparation for a career in commercial art or art instruction. She is the creator of murals at the West Wind Youth Center and the Amador High English department, and sells her work through a local outlet. Working mainly in watercolor and oils, Diane has taken first place honors at the Alameda County Fair and the California Federated Women's Club competition.

Carol Eastment, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lendell Eastment, submitted a variety of art work to PAL including a complex silkscreen, pottery and batik. She hopes to pursue a teaching career at Chabot College.

Nancy Klein will be working her way through Chabot College at Hayward toward a degree in art. She submitted batik, jewelry and pottery to earn the scholarship.

SETTING THE SCENE

of the road and let it pass. "DUEL" never gives Dennis Weaver an opportunity for simple solutions. Trains hold him up at crossings while the truck bears down on him. Passing motorists are afraid to help. There is only terror and no compassion for a fellow man.

Neither the viewer nor Weaver are allowed a glimpse of the driver of the truck except for a bit of arm at the window of the cab or a heavy foot on an accelerator. This creates an impersonal mechanical monster on the loose; ravaging not only the hero but also the onlooker's sensibilities. This certainly puts an extra edge on the suspense.

Under ordinary theatrical conditions, the villain

— if not revealed — is certainly in evidence physically for the hero to cope with. Here the vehicle is 'personalized' and that gargantuan hunk of living, virtually breathing, metal descending upon an apparently helpless victim is as horrifying as a cadaverous 'Nosferatu' at a tasty aorta.

The truck drives the hero to madness, but in a wild insane moment he comes up with a solution to the problem that is the literal downfall of the villainous vehicle. I'm going out of my way — you might say, taking a detour — to avoid revealing the end result. There's a very good chance "DUEL" will be coming down the pike again and if you haven't seen it, do so and prepare yourself for a very satisfying shock.

On the local scene, I'd like to note that "YOUNG FRANKENSTEIN" has come to the Livermore end of our valley. For one of the funniest movie experiences of a lifetime, I recommend it. Even Mel Brooks' average gaucheries seem mellow and amusing in this fling at kidding the old horror flicks.

In the beginning, I felt it was almost necessary to have seen the early "Frankenstein" and "Dracula" films to really appreciate the take off on all the vagaries. How, if you'd never seen Lionel Atwill and his artificial arm in "Son of Frankenstein" would you know what Brooks was getting at?

There are those younger than I — and that adds up to practically everyone — who could not have been exposed to the originals except in truncated TV versions. They claim "YOUNG FRANKENSTEIN" is hysterically funny. I'm glad, because I thought so, too, and will be taking this opportunity to see it a couple of more times myself — just for laughs. Join me.

Although I'd seen the show before, "DUEL" with Dennis Weaver on the tube is still one of the great suspense films of all time and it is well worth watching in any number of repeats. It carries a double impact because a designed-for-TV film has to compete with all kinds of unfortunate distractions like the commercial and brief pauses to raid the icebox.

It has to be a compliment of sorts when a viewer, in retrospect, cannot recall one commercial break. The simplicity of "DUEL" is what really gets to you. The entire sequence is almost Hitchcockian in concept; starting at a trivial moment in time with the most ordinary activity then making step by step revelations — a single point at a time — until the full character of the protagonist is revealed and how he finds himself caught up in a series of circumstances over which he has limited control.

In the case of "DUEL", if you haven't had an opportunity to see it, an ordinary guy who has had a disagreement with his wife, starts out on a routine business trip in his car. The deadly boredom of driving, the inane program on the car radio and the drabness of the desert are allowed to lull you into a complacency that is so much a part of everyone's daily life. Then danger and challenge are allowed to abruptly thrust themselves upon the scene.

No one who has seen "DUEL" will ever pass a diesel semi on highway or by-way without considerable trepidation. This monster machine sets out to destroy the man and his car.

The terrifying part of it is the very ordinary aspects of the situation. One imagines, behind a wheel, they have complete control of their machine and their fate. If there's a danger, just pull off to the side

For Thursday, June 5, 1975
ARIES (March 21-April 19)
You'll be under a magnifying glass in social situations today. You could get off on the wrong foot if you're not on your best behavior.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Trying to soft-soap others today will be the wrong tactic. One may even promise to help, but he won't deliver.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
You tend to count your chickens before they're hatched today, by assuming financial gains will materialize. There could be pitfalls.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Ambitions you have a strong desire to satisfy today may take more tenacity than you can muster. Don't kid yourself. It won't be easy.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Not a good day to try to sell others on ideas you're not fully familiar with. Take more time to study them first.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Business matters continue to be your trickiest area. Be on guard lest you buy the sizzle instead of the steak.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
You can't be all things to all people today, though you'll try. You'll wind up pleasing no one — including yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Be especially cautious today when working with unfamiliar tools or materials. Proceed slowly. Check your methods as you go.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Today, bet only on something over which you have a measure of control, not where someone else calls all the shots.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Be prepared for some unexpected disruptions at home today. Don't let them shake you too much. They'll be manageable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Use a soft touch on the gas pedal today. There's no place that you have to go that's worth jeopardizing your safety by hurrying.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
You may have a little cash surplus burning a hole in your purse. It should go into the bank, not the boutique.

Kissin studies State two mile chances

Roy Kissin, who closes a brilliant high school distance running career this weekend at the State Championships in San Diego, was waxing philosophical for a few moments last Saturday, just prior to winning the North Coast two mile.

"Let action be the thrust of thy labor, never its fruit," he quoted from some recent Zen reading. Spectators and friends brushed past, wishing good luck and prodding gently for some prediction of how fast he would run the race.

"I'm not interested in the time," he told one. "I ran 9:11 in practice this week, so I know I'm prepared."

Kissin had hoped to record a sub-9:00 two mile prior to the State meet, but his 9:03.6 at the EBAL meet May 14 is the fastest he's run to date.

After his winning 9:16.5 Saturday, Roy cast an eye toward San Diego. "The whole thing is man vs. man, not man vs. clock. You've got to remember that. Sure, I'd like to have a lower time to take into the state meet. But I've got the 9:03. I've only lost to one high school guy, and that was right after the trip to Morocco, when I hadn't recovered so well.

"Besides, prior time doesn't really matter a lot. It will be a fast race. It is every year. I just want to set myself up well, to be in the race the whole time. That will probably take a 4:25 first mile.

"At this point in the season, when your times start to drop, and the heat starts coming up, if you don't have your act together, you're in trouble."

Keeping his act together has been hampered somewhat this year by the lack of any serious challenge from northern California competitors. At the North Coast meet Saturday, for example, Del Valle's Dan Patterson finished second, almost ten seconds behind Roy. After the first mile, Patterson was never within 30 yards of the San Ramon senior.

"I'm glad Patterson qualified for state," said Roy. "He's been down lately, because he keeps having trouble with his allergies."

Those remarks no doubt represent Kissin's last backward look. Saturday, he'll be occupied with his first real tangle of the high school season, and the first time since the International Cross-Country Championships that he's had to shed the mantle of pre-race shoo-in.

That role falls upon Eric Hulst of Laguna Beach, who last year ran second at the state meet in Bakersfield, behind Rich Kimball's state record-breaking performance.

Last Saturday at the Southern Section meet, Hulst and three others all ducked under 9:00.

The Laguna Beach junior won in 8:51.8, four seconds ahead of Kissin's International Cross teammate Ralph Serna of Loara (Anaheim).

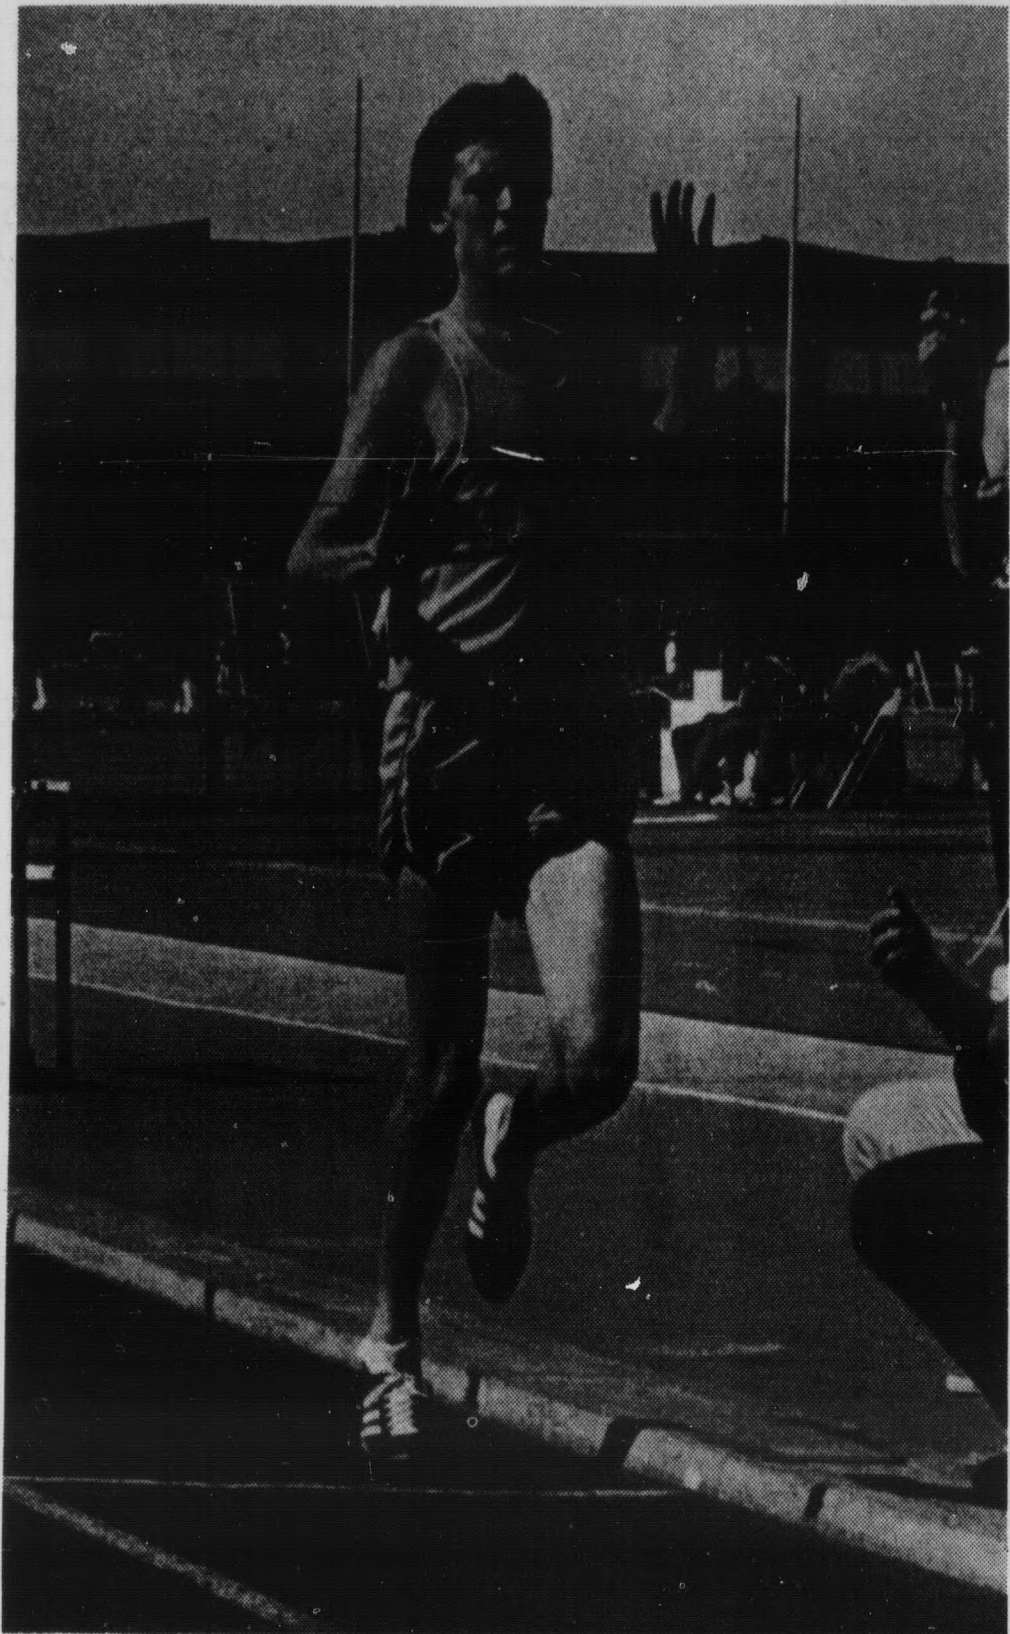

Serna has suggested that he may drop out of the state two mile, the better to concentrate on the mile. Needless to say, it would be an excruciating double. Kimball, who won both distance events at Bakersfield last year, will attest to that. The Oregon State freshman was recently forced into a long layoff, the result of an over-training spiral which began in his senior year at De LaSalle High.

Despite Serna's possible absence, Kissin will have more than Hulst to contend with Saturday. Richard Aguirre of Santa Barbara and Scott Huntsaker of Corona Del Mar also performed well at Southern Section, chasing Hulst and Serna with third and fourth place clockings of 8:56.0 and 8:57.0.

"He's ready," assured San Ramon coach Bob Vincent when asked about Kissin's preparation for San Diego. Of course, Vincent has no way of knowing what Roy has been reading this week. But it's a good bet that the slender internationalist will (at least temporarily) discard his Zen approach for something less passive. Unless the thrust of his labor puts him under 9:00 Saturday, the fruit will suddenly be out of season.

Sports in brief

Chabot to host mat clinic

Chabot College wrestling coach Zack Papachristos will conduct a wrestling clinic for athletes ages 5-50 June 16-20 at the Hayward campus.

Sessions will be from 9 a.m. to noon, with lunch provided. Papachristos has coached Chabot to two state wrestling titles, and to third place finishes three times. His teams have won four Golden Gate Conference championships.

Among the instructors at the clinic will be former two-time NCAA wrestling champions Dve Auble and Greg Strobel. Auble was an Olympic wrestler in 1964. Strobel coaches at Oregon State.

Former Chabot standouts John Needham, Brad Johnson, Steve Siroy and Brent Jacinto will also be on hand.

Fee for the clinic is $45. Applications are due June 14. For registration information, call 537-7970, or 782-3000, ext. 254.

Junior golf

Las Positas Golf Course is accepting registration for its ninth season of junior summer golf.

Youngsters ages 9-18 are eligible for lessons, and seven weekly tournaments conducted by Las Positas head pro Dan Lippstreu.

Registration fee is $10 for the family. For information, call 443-3122.

Anne in thriller

Anne Korinke defeated Terry Burned on the first hole of a sudden-death playoff yesterday to win the Springtown Golf Club's Captain's Tournament.

The two were finalists in the four-week event held in Livermore. Thelma Stump was the second runnerup.

Korinke and Burned both scored double-bogies on the par-four first hole, the first extra hole in the match play event. Korinke won, however, by virtue of a handicap stroke.

Reis Chabot MIP

Dale Reis of Dublin has been honored as the Most Improved Player on Chabot College's Golden Gate Conference championship baseball team, rated the top community college team in the state.

Reis, from Dublin High School, won 11 games during the season, including eight GGC contests. He helped Chabot to a 24-0 mark, the first team ever to win all of its league games.

Reis, a second team all-GGC selection, compiled a 1.06 earned run average.

Klutts makes A-A

Pleasanton's Doug Klutts attained junior college All-American status in four events this past season for Chabot College's swim team.

The Amador Valley High swimmer was a part of two All-American relay teams, the 400 free relay (3:15.693) and the 800 free relay, (7:16.707).

Klutts had the nation's fifth fastest time in the 500 free-style, 4:44.324, and the 11th best for the 200 free, 1:45.991. All of the times are Chabot College records.

Net singles

Pleasanton Racquet Club will stage a men's singles and women's singles tennis tournament June 14 and 15 at Amador Valley High School.

All Pleasanton residents are eligible to enter. Fee is $2. Entry deadline is June 7, and registration forms are available at the Recreation Department.

For information, call 846-3574, or 846-3859.

Appliance fixes Plumbing with 6-5 victory

Can Am Plumbing leaked five runs to Aero Appliance in the top of the third inning in their Pleasanton National senior league game Tuesday, and wound up losing, 6-5.

The Padres rallied with single runs in the third fourth and fifth frames, but fell short.

Losing pitcher Michael Kirbvan gave up just one hit to the Pirates. Scott Ledbetter, though hitless, drove in two runs for Aero.

Kirbvan singled twice for Can Am.

Gutman's scored 11 times in the fourth and fifth innings and defeated Romley's Market, 14-3. Ken Northam smashed two homers and drove in eight runs, while Jeff Taylor had a homer and five RBIs. Romley's Ken Davison drove in two runs.

Ed Nakagawa of Elby's Auto Parts stole home in the bottom of the ninth inning to earn the Padres a 9-8 triumph over Covey's Mobil. Nakagawa and Chris Gaekle each drove in two runs. The Braves' Mark Kahnmeier and Dave Blanchard had four hits apiece.

Televue rallied for four runs in the sixth inning, but dropped a 7-6 decision to Elby's. Charles Pagaduan drove in three runs for the winners. Mike Rizzo had two RBIs. The Cubs' Kerry Mueller drove in three runs.

Covey's Mobil bombed Franklin Savings, 17-14, with Larry Rodgers blasting two homers and collecting seven RBIs. Eric Nostrand and Tom Northam homered for the losers.

Tri-Valley Radiator boiled over for eight runs in the first inning and cooled off the Cubs, 11-7. Ken Perry and Steve Greene drove in two runs each. The Cubs' Greg Scott homered.

The Phillies rolled over the Braves, 10-4 as Stan Bell, Tim McCutchen and Mike Pipitone all blasted doubles.

Tony Chaverria drove in four runs leading the Cubs to a 13-8 Double A win over the Padres. Steve MacIorski drove in three runs.

Fine defense in the outfield by Tony Robertson and Chet Bevilacqua carried the Single A Padres past the Cubs, 21-4. Matt Panitz and Rob O'Malley tripled.

Pleasanton American

The Duke brothers, Doug and Steve, joined forces to shutout Denny's in Pleasanton American major league baseball Tuesday, earning Crown Chevrolet an 8-0 victory.

Doug started the contest and Steve relieved, and together they limited the A's to five base hits.

Steve singled as part of the Tigers' seven-hit attack.

Frank's Exxon buried Kaiser Sand and Gravel, 30-16 in a Four A contest David Johnson and Vince Luppino drove in a total of five runs. The A's David-Knowles had four RBIs.

In Triple A, the Tigers belted the A's, 19-3. Eric Patterson homered and drove in three runs. David Jackson of the A's singled twice.

Granada

LLRA scored three times in the top of the fourth inning to overhaul Acme Trophies in the Granada minor league, 8-7.

Dave Nickerson had three hits for the winners Acme's Kevin Hall doubled.

John Lassallete opened the contest with three shutout innings leading Alden Lane Nursery to a 10-3 rout of Sunset Homes. Ron Sweet drove in two runs for Alden.

Livermore Locker posted three runs in the top of the seventh inning to break lose from Valley Bank, 13-10. Mike Lynn drove in five runs for the Locker. John Mullany had two RBIs.

The Livermore Police defeated Granada Hardware, 23-2 Darren Dickman and Doyle Pierce had three RBIs apiece. Frank Cairo knocked in two runs.

Livermore National

Rick Swalles and Dean Mendez teamed up to stop Acme Trophies on two base hits as the Geldertownners claimed a 5-4 Livermore National senior league victory Tuesday.

Mendez aided his own cause with two singles and three runs-batted-in. Rick Baysal and Bill Dalrymple each had two hits.

In the major leagues, Country Market came up with two runs in the seventh inning to nip the Eagles, 3-2. Kevin Grijalva drove in two runs with three hits. Winning pitcher Herb Goss struck out 10 and fired a four-hitter. Bill Barrett had three of the Eagles hits.

Dublin Valley

Jim Cartan and Danny Reyes of Crown Chevrolet locked in a pitchers' duel with Romley's Phil Hampton in the Dublin Valley major league Monday, and won out, 1-0, on Reyes' double and a subsequent double steal.

Rick Mohr who walked with Reyes at third base, raced to second and drew a play from the A's. Reyes burst to the plate as Mohr's second.

Hampton allowed just one hit and struck out five. Cartan and Reyes teamed for a three-hitter. Reyes struck out seven.

Wheelway defeated Rich's Chevron, 7-1, as Dan Kershaw and Curtis Brilla fired a five-hitter. Jim Grant had two doubles and three RBIs for the Giants. Collin Warren singled home two runs.

Giant homers wreck Cubbies

CHICAGO (AP) — Light-hitting Derrel Thomas and rookie Glenn Adams smacked ninth-inning home runs, powering the San Francisco Giants to a wild 10-8 victory over the Chicago Cubs Wednesday.

Both blasts, two of the five the Giants hit, came off losing reliever Oscar Zamora. Thomas' shot was his second of the season and broke an 8-8 tie. Adams' homer was his second of the game and third of the year.

The Cubs had tied the score 8-8 in the bottom of the eighth on Bill Madlock's run-scoring double.

Marc Hill's run-scoring single with two out in the top of the eighth inning had put the Giants ahead 8-7. Hill's hit scored Ed Goodson, who beat out an infield hit with two out and went to second on shortstop Don Kessinger's wild throw.

The see-saw slugfest, in which seven home runs were hit, was tied 7-7 in the bottom of the seventh on a run-scoring pinch single by the Cubs' John Summers, which followed Manny Trillo's single and a walk to Steve Swisher.

Marten honored as final Flecto Prep

Monte Vista High golfer Rob Marten and Marina High pitcher Kris Jorgensen may have little else in common, but they do share the distinction of being the school year's final Flecto Sports Award winners.

Marten won the Contra Costa edition of the award, selected by East Bay Prep Writers Association members for the Flecto, Co., an Oakland-based manufacturer.

The Mustang golfer captured the California Inter-scholastic Federation's Northern California Regional trophy title Monday by beating San Rafael High's Bill Corbett in a playoff.

The two finished 36-hole regulation tournament play with identical 151 scores. Marten hit a 54-foot birdie putt on the second overtime hole for the victory.

It was Jorgensen who almost single-handedly took Alhambra High's North Coast Section playoff championship hopes and dashed them. He struck out 10 Bulldogs while limiting them to four hits in a 4-0 first-round victory Friday.

Jorgensen and Marten will join other previous Flecto Sports Award winners from San Francisco, Contra Costa, and Alameda counties this Wednesday at the first Flecto Sports Award banquet at Goodman's Hall in Oakland.

At that time, Bay Area athlete, coach, girl, and sportsman of the year will be named, according to Mort J. Berger, the Flecto executive in charge of the high-school program.

Joining the athletes will be their parents and coaches as well as numerous Bay Area sports celebrities. A social hour at 6:30 p.m. precedes the 7:30 dinner Wednesday.

Over 100 Bay Area high school athletes will be honored at the dinner.

Castilleja auction scheduled

LIVERMORE - An Alameda County Sheriff's auction will be held June 11 for the complex at 1009 Murrieta Boulevard, also known as Phase 1 of Castilleja Del Arroyo.

The auction is scheduled to collect money on a $18,600 judgment handed down by the county Superior Court in favor of plaintiff Baron & Chestney, Inc., who sued Livermore Properties, Inc., according to the sheriff's office.

Baron & Chestney, Inc., is a collection agency representing R.G.S. Inc., now known as Contract Furnishers International.

Phase 3 of Castilleja, 1085 Murrieta Boulevard, also is being auctioned. That auction is a public one, originally scheduled for May 27 but postponed to June 13.

Valley schools schedule ceremonies

With hay fever and hot weather already in town, can the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" be far behind?

The answer is, of course, no, as six valley high schools and nine intermediate schools will hold their graduation ceremonies next week.

The most dramatic presentation of diplomas occurs at the high school levels, and those begin Wednesday June 11 and run through June 13.

First on the chronological list is Valley High School, which will hold its ceremony at the Pleasanton Hotel Wednesday night at 8 p.m.

Thursday night will be jam-packed with caps, gowns and diplomas as Dublin, Amador, Del Valle and Granada all will hold graduation.

Granada's parade will begin first, at 6 p.m. on the football field, with Amador ready to go at 6:30 in the Fairgrounds.

Dublin High will hand out diplomas beginning at 7 p.m. on the football field while Del Valle's ceremony will take place in the Livermore High Student Union at 8 p.m.

Livermore High, flying in the face of superstition, is planning its graduation for Friday the 13th at 7 p.m. on the football field. Those graduates will be joined in their flaunting of the occult by Dublin School, whose eighth graders will graduate at 8 p.m.

Four intermediate schools will have their ceremonies June 11, with Harvest Park in Pleasanton starting off at 6 p.m. at the Fairgrounds.

Pleasanton Elementary School follows Harvest Park at the Fairgrounds at 8:30, the same time that Nielsen School and Donlon School will hand out their diplomas. Livermore junior highs will hold their graduation on June 12, with East Avenue and Mendonhall Schools going at 1:45 p.m. Junction School is planning its parade for 7 p.m.

Wells Intermediate School, the largest junior high in the Murray Elementary School District, has no graduation planned.
